INTRODUCTION

The Reader Development Program of the Free Library of Philadelphia makes available audio-visual materials selected for their potential use with the under-educated, the disadvantaged, and the general public as well.

These materials are loaned for a one-week period to persons who live in Philadelphia. They include filmstrips, records and cassettes.

This annual supplement to the Annotated List of Audio-Visual Materials includes the filmstrips added to the Reader Development collection since June, 1971. The list is arranged alphabetically by filmstrip title. A brief subject index follows this list. Titles may be listed under more than one subject heading. A catalog giving the addresses of filmstrip distributors is also included.
